Dear Alison,

In support of planning applications 12/00045/MFUL, 12/00107/MFUL, 11/02007/MFUL

I was delighted to have a chance to read through the Ecological Land Co-operative's application for the Greenham Reach site. It makes a convincing and eloquent case, which resonated with me both in terms of the principles and underlying philosophy on which it was based and the practicalities involved in making a project of this kind succeed.

In terms of where we are right now on critical issues about sustainable agriculture and food security, I think it really matters that we find opportunities to find genuinely sustainable ways of contributing to local food supply chains. Only by bringing forward schemes of this kind will we be able to use all the experience gathered through all of those schemes to help inspire others to develop their own solutions.

I'm hugely impressed by the thoughtfulness and imagination that has been put into these applications, and I hope that they are looked on favourably by the Planning Committee.

Very best wishes
